

On page 2, line 12, the word "elections" should be singular, not plural; so the "s" should be dropped from that "elections".

(At this point Second Vice-President William James assumed the chair.)

DELEGATE JAMES (presiding): Is there any objection to modifying the language by dropping the letter "s"?

In the absence of objection it will be considered so modified.

DELEGATE PENNIMAN: Otherwise, the only change in section 4 is a slight rewording and a change in the order of the sentences. We have no changes of any consequence in 3.05 or 3.06.

I perhaps should have said at the beginning throughout where the word "legislature" was mentioned we changed it to the General Assembly to make it perfectly clear.

In 3.07 there are minor changes which were intended merely to reduce the length of the section and to bring it in line with the changes which we have made in the executive branch and in the article on the judiciary.

There are no changes again of any consequence in 3.09, 3.10, 3.11. We made a change of one word in 3.12.

On page 5, lines 10 to 13 had originally been section 4.13 in the executive branch and had been moved over to the legislative branch, along with the other instances where reference is made to the governor's authority to convene special sessions.

On page 6, section 3.16, if you will, look at the sentence that begins on line 6, "The subject of every law shall be described in its title," and put a line under that sentence to indicate that it is italicized. In other words, it is a sentence of the Committee, drawn, to be sure, from lines 10 and 11, but it is an insertion and therefore should indicate a change from the way in which it came to us from the floor. It is not a change in content, but we should have indicated that we made a change in the place where it is listed. So if you will, underline the words "The subject of every law shall be described in its title." If you underline that it will indicate the italics which we forgot.

In line 13, add the words "the requisite revenue." We inserted the words "the requisite revenue" because it is clear in article 6.15 that in a supplementary appropriations act the legislature needs to indicate not only that it is subject to the appropriations, but the fact of the availability of the revenues. This is merely to keep it in line with what we have already done in 6.15. It is really a change of order, to get it chronologically stated, rather than in some other slightly different manner.

I am sorry, Mr. Chairman, but when I asked that the words be italicized I forgot to pause long enough for you to get approval, if they will give it to us, for that change in section 3.16.

DELEGATE JAMES (presiding): Chairman Penniman requests the right to modify a sentence on page 6, "The subject of every law shall be described in its title." Unless there is objection, the language will be considered to be so modified to permit that italicized language.

DELEGATE PENNIMAN: We will turn now to 3.19.

We once more have the problem of making some changes. In line 14, page 7, please change the word "provide" to "prescribe"; page 7, line 14, the first word in the line.

In line 18—

DELEGATE JAMES (presiding): Unless there is objection, the word "provide" on line 18 will be amended to read "prescribe."

DELEGATE PENNIMAN: There are four of those in that same paragraph. It comes up on line 18, again on 23, and again on 27, all in the same section.

DELEGATE JAMES (presiding): Unless there is objection, the paragraph will be considered so modified.

Delegate Beatrice Miller, for what purpose do you rise?

DELEGATE B. MILLER: On line 21 and 22, the phrase "at reasonable times"—

DELEGATE PENNIMAN: Delegate Miller, I was also about to make a correction on line 21 and 22.

We had crossed out the words "at reasonable times," and we did not intend to cross it out. We intended to move it to the other side of "public," and by a typographical error we removed it and did not put it back on the other side. This was the subject of considerable discussion in which both Delegates James and Della were involved, and we changed it unintentionally. We did not want to remove it. "At reasonable times" should appear after "public" and before the period.
